

Introducing Uber Freight Exchange

Run better bids with speed, ease, and insights

The all-in-one tool for your contract freight

In an ever-changing market, shippers must constantly reimagine each step of their operations, including their procurement strategies. When you unlock faster and easier ways to run bids for contract freight, you can focus on what's important: growing your business.

That's where Uber Freight Exchange comes in. As a shipper, you'll be able to unlock efficiencies, strengthen relationships, and safeguard operations — all in one place. Built-in communication tools, easy-to-use bid functionality, and historical performance reporting will change how you operate across the board.

Get it done with Uber Freight Exchange

Save time and money

Run contract bids from start to finish with one tool. Uber Freight Exchange handles communications by automatically notifying and engaging with bid winners. Once bids are confirmed, you can download pre-configured routing guides and rates to your TMS.

Make better and faster decisions

Access to rich data and insights allows you to optimize bids over time and streamline your operations. Simply start a contract bid directly from your TMS data and upload bid results to your routing guide.

Improve communication

Keeping track of countless emails is one way to lose track of bids and time. With Uber Freight Exchange, all communications are centralized. Because both shippers and carriers are using it, everyone will be able to keep track of the current bid status.

Grow your network

Invite your existing carriers to bid on loads and tap into the growing and diverse carrier network powered by Uber Freight.

“This tool will undoubtedly give the Uber Freight TMS a competitive advantage and bring considerable value to every customer who utilizes it.”
